

From Biblical Prophets to the Historical Jesus

With Michael Okinczyc-Cruz, D.Min.
Online May 20, 2024 to June 28, 2024

"A prophet's true greatness is their ability to hold God and humanity in a single thought."
- Abraham Joshua Heschel

- Explore Old Testament prophets and Jesus, analyzing patterns of lamentation and proclamation to reveal a radical vision of God.
- Examine the prophets' critique of social sin and inequality, connecting Jesus to this prophetic tradition for deeper insights into his Kingdom movement in the first century.
- Discuss present-day implications of these teachings within the context of modern movements for justice.

Michael Okinczyc-Cruz, D.Min.
Part-time Faculty, Loyola University Chicago and the Executive Director of the Coalition for Spiritual and Public Leadership

Take a Summer Class at IPS!

Refresh Your Theological Thinking and Pastoral Practice

Sit in on a graduate class and explore together the latest research from a theological and pastoral perspective.

$500

You will have full access to the online course experience! The group will meet online via Zoom:

MONDAYS 5:30PM – 7:30PM (central)

REGISTER

Email Mirta Garcia
mgarcia29@luc.edu

CONTACT

Julie Garcia
Institute of Pastoral Studies
jgarcia33@luc.edu

COURSE REQUIREMENTS

- Have access to a computer with Internet.
- Have a personal email address by which to receive and send pertinent communications.