Lights, camera, action!

Last summer, the John Felice Rome Center hosted its inaugural film festival, showing student-produced films to a standing-room only crowd and to great acclaim. Rich Martini, the film-making professor at the JFRC, gave his students a bit of advice during the 2008 summer session, “Make it factual, make it entertaining, and not least of all, make it spark the audience’s interest.” Following those instructions, the six films created by 10 students in just a few short weeks exceeded every expectation.

Covering topics ranging from a profile of Professor Sergio Corsi in “Monkey Business” to a day in the life of a pizza, “La Pizza Vita,” each film found a unique way to tell its story. “La Pizza Vita” used only music and images. “Rockwell” featured Peter Rockwell, son of famed painter and illustrator Norman Rockwell, as he talked about his experience of becoming a successful artist in his own right, as well as his connection to his father. Through the words of those he has moved, “Pater Noster” illustrated the effect Father Chandler has had on the students, faculty, and staff of the JFRC during his tenure.

At the conclusion of the class, the filmmakers proudly showed their films at the first-ever JFRC film festival. The house was packed and the films were a great success. To see for yourself the wonderful work of these students, and to learn more about the inaugural semester of this class, please visit romecenterfilm.blogspot.com.
Greetings from Emilio

DEAR FRIENDS,

This August marked another exciting school year at the John Felice Rome Center. Through each new class, I see the mission of our dear founder, John Felice, being fulfilled.

This past September I attended the launch gala of Partner: The Campaign for the Future of Loyola. The most remarkable part of the evening was seeing how many loyal supporters came to celebrate what is the most ambitious campaign in the history of Loyola University Chicago and the Loyola University Health System. The John Felice Rome Center, naturally, is a very important part of the campaign’s goals.

It seems fitting to me that Loyola has chosen “Partner” as the theme of the current campaign. Now is our chance to truly be partners in supporting the legacy John Felice established and to ensure that all of the students who come to Rome have a life-changing experience.

In the upcoming months I hope I have the pleasure of meeting even more of you as you travel here to Rome and I attend events in states across the country. Thank you for your support and encouragement—together we can keep the flame that links us in love and peace alive through the JFRC.

May God bless you and keep you and your families always,

Emilio Iodice
Vice President and Director, John Felice Rome Center

CONGRATS, EMILIO!
The JFRC community congratulates Emilio Iodice, previously associate provost and director of the JFRC, on his new position as vice president and director. He will now be a member of the President’s Cabinet at Loyola University Chicago.

Q&A with Annie Hinkel

A junior at Saint Louis University and a business marketing major, Annie recently returned from her spring 2008 semester at the JFRC and is the newest class captain.

Q: How did you find out about the JFRC?
A: Some of my friends from SLU went and said they would do anything to go back there again. I was nervous about spending a whole semester there, as well as the language barrier, but as soon as I arrived, I felt at home.

Q: What was your favorite experience?
A: One of my favorite memories is of our trip to Tunisia. It was so well organized and such a great opportunity to go somewhere in Africa. We camped overnight in the Sahara, rode camels, and even met up with some Tunisian law students. It was a great opportunity to meet people from other parts of the world.

Q: Why did you choose to stay connected with the JFRC?
A: I was invited to be class president, as a liaison between my class, the JFRC, and the other alumni. The JFRC is something I feel strongly about and I want to stay involved to keep our class together and to stay connected with this place that has had such a large impact on my life.

Società di Donatori expands

As you know, the Società di Donatori is comprised of alumni and friends of the JFRC who are dedicated to preserving its legacy. This group has grown tremendously over the years and we are happy to announce that, as of July of this year, we have expanded the Società di Donatori to include more levels and more options for its current and potential members, including levels for young alumni.

To become a member, look for your letter in the mail in the coming months, or make your gift online at LUC.edu/JFRCgiving. If you have any questions or comments, please contact Robin Miller, annual giving officer, at rmiller@luc.edu or 312.915.6363.

Thank you all for your continued support, and with your help, we look forward to future successes this fiscal year!

Great wine and even better company

JFRC alumni and friends gathered at Piper Hall on October 16 for an evening of friendly conversation and delightful wines. The purpose of the event was to recognize and thank all of the members of the Società di Donatori. This vital group represents the most generous and dedicated supporters of the JFRC.

A special “thanks” goes out to Dave Bruni (JFRC Spring ’97, JFRC Alumni Board) and Oyster Bay Wines for donating the wine for the event. If you weren’t able to attend, no worries! We’re making this an annual event.

See you there next year!
The Società di Donatori 2009 Honor Roll

Donations to general operating, scholarship, endowments, and travel funds have been invaluably making the JFRC a fixture in Rome. In fiscal year 2008, 787 alumni and friends of the JFRC contributed over $342,000 to various JFRC initiatives. You helped raise over $53,000 for the John P. and Mary K. Felice Endowed Scholarship, over $46,000 for Forza Roma, and over $81,000 for class scholarships in fiscal year 2008. We had a great year and are incredibly grateful for all the JFRC alumni and friends who participated.

We extend our deepest appreciation for all those alumni and friends who are members of the società di donatori.

We have listed the 2008 members in recognition of their outstanding support and generosity and for helping to lead the campaign for the JFRC.

Please note: As The Forum did not run in the spring ‘08 issue, these are the class notes from both the spring and fall of 2008.

Shooshan (Boyrazian) Kechichian (JFRC spring ‘99/BA Loyola University Chicago ‘00), a senior consultant at Booz Allen Hamilton in Washington DC, was recently married in Chicago to Etienne Kechichian, a consultant at the World Bank, where the couple met. She continues to take Italian language lessons.

Isabella (Brzozka) Snider (JFRC spring ‘96) married John Snider on May 19, 2007, in Wilmington, Delaware. In attendance were five of her closest friends, Jaclyn (Bova) Volpe, Megan (Matthews) Cordoma, Philip Hoog, Richard Ionata, and John Ruggiero, all classmates whom she befriended at the John Felice Rome Center in the spring of ’96. After 11 years, she still cherishes her time at the JFRC and feels so fortunate to have created lifelong friendships from the experience.

Marilyn Niznik Calik (JFRC fall ‘04/BS Loyola University Chicago ’05) and Michael Calik (JFRC fall ‘04/BS Loyola University Chicago ’05) were married on September 22, 2007. Marilyn and Michael have known each other since high school, but it was not until their studies at the John Felice Rome Center that their romance began. They spent a three week honeymoon traveling to Italy, Slovenia, and Poland (where they visited Michael’s family). Their time in Italy included a nostalgic visit to the JFRC.

Melissa Daniel (JFRC ’99–’00) married Denton Cunningham Jacobs on May 17, 2008 in Chicago. There were four other JFRC alumni in attendance. The couple went to Turkey on their honeymoon.

Tammy Jo Eckhart (JFRC ’90–’91) has earned her doctor of philosophy in ancient history from Indiana University. Her dissertation, “An Author-Centered Approach to Understanding Amazons in the Ancient World,” reveals a high degree of creativity and social consciousness in the works of four Greek authors. Tammy’s sixth book, Sweet Memories of Pain & The Future of Pleasure, was released in September 2007; it is available at amazon.com. Eckhart is a regionally sought-after speaker and educator on alternative human sexuality, as well as one of the leading book reviewers on these issues.

Brian A. Forgue (JFRC ’70–’71/BA Loyola University Chicago ’72/JD Loyola University Chicago School of Law ’75) has been appointed to the Tax Advisory Board of the John Marshall Law School Center for Tax Law & Employee Benefits. Forgue received a master’s degree in taxation, with honors, from John Marshall in 2004. He continues his law practice in Elmhurst, Illinois, concentrated in estate planning and estate and trust administration.

Jason Grill (JFRC spring ’99) Missouri state representative, recently joined the law firm of Holtsclaw & Kendall, LC, as an associate attorney. Prior to joining the firm, Grill practiced law with his father, Brad Grill, at the Grill Law Firm, LLC, after graduating with a juris doctor and an advanced certificate in dispute resolution from the University of Missouri-Columbia School of Law. In addition to his new position, Grill will continue to serve the residents of the 32nd District and the state of Missouri in the Missouri House of Representatives, as well as continuing as an adjunct professor of graduate and undergraduate courses at Park University in Parkville.

Roger J. Kiley IV (JFRC spring ’98/JD Loyola University Chicago School of Law ’04) recently joined the law firm of Shefsky & Froelich Ltd. as an associate. Since graduating from Loyola University Chicago School of Law in 2004, he has served as an assistant attorney general with the office of the Illinois Attorney General Lisa Madigan. While in law school at Loyola in 2002, Roger also spent the summer at the JFRC. Alumni may remember him as an efficient packer and as someone with a pleasant smell.
Barbara Ann (Maggio) Pauley (JFRC fall ’71) received a BA in English at Santa Clara University in 1973, worked for a few years as a legal secretary and paralegal in the Bay Area and then went to law school, graduating from the University of San Diego School of Law in 1982. Barbara practiced law in Los Angeles and San Diego for 10 years before meeting her future husband and moving to Kentucky in 1992. She took the Kentucky Bar in 1993 and since has been working as an administrative law judge and staff attorney in Kentucky State Government. She currently practices environmental law, specializing in conservation and ethics. Barbara loves living in Lexington in the middle of bluegrass horse country!

Christopher C. Murtaugh (JFRC ’91–’92) passed away on June 19, 2007, of pancreatic cancer. He is survived by his parents, Janet (MUND ’66) and Timothy Murtaugh III, his brother Timothy J. Murtaugh IV (Loyola University Chicago ’89) and sister Mary Lyons.

Joanna Ostrowska-O’Higgins (JFRC fall ’88/BA Loyola University Chicago ’89) has recently joined BCU Risk Advisors Chicago office as assistant vice president. The firm specializes in serving the insurance and risk management needs of the affluent. She has also recently obtained the CIC (Certified Insurance Counselor) designation. You may reach her at johiggins@bcuriskadvisors.com.

Michele (Tanzillo) Dasenbrook (JFRC fall ’95/BBA Loyola University Chicago ’97) and her husband Elliott (Loyola University Chicago ’97) are proud to announce the birth of their second son, Luca Michael (November 2006). Michele, Elliott, and big brother Maddux Chandler (December 2003) live in Baltimore.

All fun at the All-Class Reunion

Last spring, JFRC alums from every year got to celebrate and reconnect with old classmates, make new friends, and enjoy a weekend filled with great Italian food and wine at the All-Class Reunion in Chicago.

This spring, the reunion will be in Washington DC, on April 18–19 at the Italian Embassy. Visit LUC.edu/romereunion for more details.

SHARE YOUR NEWS!

If you have news you would like to share in an upcoming Il Bollettino, please send a brief blurb to JFRCForum@luc.edu. We will need:

- Your full name (include maiden/former name if your name has changed since you were a student)
- The year/semester you attended JFRC
- Name of institution where you completed your undergraduate degree and grad year.
- No more than 50 words describing news of events such as births, marriages, retirements, engagements, promotions, awards, degrees, etc.

We reserve the right to edit, omit, or hold submissions as needed.
As people leave the JFRC and settle into their lives around the world, we sometimes lose touch with them, but we know you don't! If you know someone who isn’t getting Il Bollettino, it’s because we don’t know how to contact them. To put them back in touch with the JFRC community, please contact Allison Coté at 312.915.6742 or acote@luc.edu. You can also log onto LUC.edu/alumni/jfrc and click on the “Lost and Found” icon.

Help lost alumni reconnect.

Remembering Felice

In early 2009, on the anniversary of John Felice’s death, members of the JFRC community will receive a special issue of Il Bollettino. This memorial issue will celebrate John’s life and spirit with stories, memories, and pictures. Watch your mailbox.
