OVERVIEW AND PURPOSES

This course has two purposes. The first purpose is to conduct an in-depth examination of Mental Health Counseling as a helping profession. Specifically, we will examine (a) historical, philosophical, and social/political influences on contemporary mental health counseling practice and the future of mental health counseling as a helping profession, (b) professional organizations to which mental health counselors belong, the settings in which they practice, and the roles of mental health counselors in those settings, (c) credentialing and licensing for mental health counseling practice, and (d) knowledge bases critical to mental health counseling, including evidence-based practice.

The second purpose is to provide students with an opportunity to develop their skills at presenting to professional audiences. Thus, students will have an opportunity to develop in-depth knowledge on a substantive topic relevant to the work of mental health counselors and present their findings to the class.

It is, therefore, hoped that after completing the course students will be knowledgeable about all of the following:

1. Historical, philosophical, societal, cultural, economic, and political foundations of mental health counseling and the future of mental health counseling practice.
2. Preparation standards, credentialing, licensing, and professional identities of mental health counselors.
3. Roles and functions of mental health counselors in relation to managed care, crisis and first responder interventions, prevention and promotion of optimum development, advocacy, technology in counseling, program evaluation, and evidence-based practice.

It is also hoped that students will develop increased skills and confidence to conduct workshops and other forms of professional presentations.

In summary, the core objectives of the course include: (a) gaining factual knowledge on the above topics, (b) developing skill in expressing yourself orally, and (c) learning how to find and use resources for answering questions or solving problems. The phrases in bold represent the essential or important objectives for the course on the IDEA on-line course evaluation form that you will receive via e-mail toward the end of the semester. Please be sure to complete the IDEA evaluation when you receive it.

TEXT AND OTHER RESOURCES

Textbook

There will be no text book for the course.

Readings

Readings assigned by presentation groups

Introductory readings assigned by instructor (available in Sakai)

Evidence-Based Practice Websites

EVALUATION

Grades will be based on an in-class presentation (30%), final exam (30%), evidence-based practice paper (30%), and participation (10%). Participation involves arriving to class on-time, regular attendance, and active participation on assignments (see attached class schedule) and in your classmates’ presentations.

In-Class Presentation

Description and Grading
Teams of three students will be asked to select a topic from among those listed below, conduct in-depth research on the topic, and lead a two-hour class period devoted to the topic, using appropriate technologies and other types of instructional strategies (e.g., lectures, discussion, demonstrations, experiential exercises, case studies). In addition, each team is required to prepare a bibliography of selected readings and three final exam questions on the topic to distribute to the class on the day of the presentation. Everyone in the class is expected to have read the section of the Sakai chapter on the topic prior to the class period in addition to readings assigned by the presentation team. Topics include those critical to mental health counseling practice that are emphasized in the text, but have not been covered in sufficient depth in other required courses in the curriculum.

Grading will be based on (a) preparation and organization, (b) quality of instruction, (c) demonstrated knowledge, (d) appropriateness of content coverage, (e) clarity of application, and (f) use of PowerPoint and other media.

Ratings will be provided for the team on the above 6 dimensions, by the instructor and fellow class members, using the following scale:

1 = poor, failure (F)
2 = unacceptable (D)
3 = minimally acceptable (C)
4 = good, acceptable (B)
5 = target, excellent (A)

To assign a final grade on the presentation to the team members, class and instructor ratings will be averaged on each dimension and then an overall average, across the 6 dimensions, will be obtained. Grades will be based on the overall average and will be assigned according to the following scale:

4.50 – 5.00 = A
4.00 – 4.49 = B+
3.50 – 3.99 = B
3.00 – 3.49 = C+
2.50 – 2.99 = C
2.00 – 2.49 = D+
1.50 – 1.99 = D
1.00 – 1.49 = F

Oral presentations and use of technology collectively represent a core assessment in the Community Counseling and Clinical Mental Health Counseling Programs. Therefore, all presentations will also be evaluated in Live Text and each team member is required to upload the team’s PowerPointS into Live Text before the presentations. The following guidelines will be used to rate the presentations as Target, Acceptable, and Unacceptable:
Target = 4.50-5.00
Acceptable = 3.50 – 4.49
Unacceptable = 1.00 – 3.49

Topics

Presentations should be chosen from the following issues relevant to the practice of mental health counseling:

1. Managed Care (Sakai, pp. 418-428)
2. Crisis and First Responder Interventions (Sakai, pp. 217-227)
3. Prevention and Promotion of Optimum Development (Sakai, pp. 178-185)
4. Advocacy (Sakai, pp. 195-201)
5. Technology in Counseling (Live Text, pp. 68-71)

Note: Since the Clinical Mental Health Counseling program requires a prevention course, the prevention topic should be chosen by students in the Community Counseling program.

Final Exam

A final exam will be given on the date noted on the attached course schedule. The exam will cover issues related to history, organizations, credentialing, and licensing as well as the knowledge bases covered in the class presentations. In relation to the latter, the instructor will select one of the questions from the list that each team distributes to the class at the time of its presentation to include on the final exam.

Evidence-Based Practice Paper

Students are expected to select a client problem of interest, engage in an evidence-based practice review of the problem, and write a 10 page (maximum) paper summarizing empirically-supported treatments for the problem. The paper should be written in APA style and will be graded on the basis of content, quality of writing, and adherence to APA style requirements.

DISPOSITIONS

Students in all programs in the School of Education are expected to develop three specific dispositions during their graduate study: (a) professionalism, (b) fairness/equity, and (c) belief that all students can learn. The descriptions of expected behaviors for these dispositions can be found on the rubric posted in LiveText for this course.

SCHOOL OF EDUCATION CONCEPTUAL FRAMEWORK

Professionalism in the Service of Social Justice. As a counselor, you can be a vehicle of social justice in whatever setting you work and in whatever role you exercise in your career. This course will provide you with the knowledge that you need to assure that your professional efforts to alleviate suffering and promote self-development and self-determination are as empirically-based as possible.

ACADEMIC HONESTY

Academic honesty is an expression of interpersonal justice, responsibility, and care, applicable to Loyola University Chicago faculty, staff, and students, which demands that the pursuit of knowledge at the university community be carried out with sincerity and integrity. The School of Education’s Policy on Academic Integrity can be found at: http://www.luc.edu/education/academics_policies_integrity.shtml. For additional academic policies and procedures refer to: http://www.luc.edu/education/academics_policies_main.shtml

ACCESSIBILITY

Students who have disabilities which they believe entitle them to accommodations under the Americans with Disability Act should register with the Services for Students with Disabilities (SSWD) office. To request accommodations, students must schedule an appointment with an SSWD coordinator. Students should contact SSWD at least four weeks before their first semester or term at Loyola University Chicago. Returning students should schedule an appointment within the first two weeks of the semester or term. More information is available at: http://www.luc.edu/sswd/

HARASSMENT (Bias Reporting)

It is unacceptable and a violation of University policy to harass, discriminate against, or abuse any person because of his or her race, color, national origin, gender, sexual orientation, disability, religion, age or any other characteristic protected by applicable law. Such behavior threatens to destroy the environment of tolerance and mutual respect that must prevail for this university to fulfill its educational and health care mission. For this reason, every incident of harassment, discrimination or abuse undermines the aspirations and attacks the ideals of our community. The university qualifies these incidents as incidents of bias.

In order to uphold our mission of being Chicago’s Jesuit Catholic University—a diverse community seeking God in all things and working to expand knowledge in the service of humanity through learning, justice and faith, any incident(s) of bias must be reported and appropriately addressed. Therefore, the Bias Reporting (BR) Team was created to assist members of the Loyola University Chicago community in bringing incidents of bias to the attention of the University. If you believe you are subject to such bias, you should notify the Bias Response Team at this link: http://webapps.luc.edu/biasreporting/.
TECHNOLOGY

Learning to use technology in course and workshop presentations is a central goal of the presentations and represents a core assessment for this course.

EthicsLine REPORTING HOTLINE

Loyola University Chicago has implemented EthicsLine Reporting Hotline, through a third party internet and telephone hotline provider, to provide you with an automated and anonymous way to report activities that may involve misconduct or violations of Loyola University policy. You may file an anonymous report here on-line or by dialing 855-603-6988 (within the United States, Guam, and Puerto Rico)

The University is committed to the highest ethical and professional standards of conduct as an integral part of its mission of expanding knowledge in the service of humanity through learning, justice, and faith. To achieve this goal, the University relies on each community member’s ethical behavior, honesty, integrity, and good judgment. Each community member should demonstrate respect for the rights of others.

ELECTRONIC COMMUNICATIONS POLICIES AND GUIDELINES

The School of Education faculty, students, and staff respect each other’s rights, privacy, and access to electronic resources, services, and communications while in the pursuit of academic and professional growth, networking, and research. All members of the university community are expected to demonstrate the highest standards of integrity, communication, and responsibility while accessing and utilizing technology, information resources, and computing facilities. A link to Loyola University Chicago and School of Education official policies and guidelines can be found at:

DIVERSITY

Your program is committed to issues of diversity, including, but not limited to, race, ethnicity, gender, sexual orientation, social class, disability, and ability status. Counseling clients with disabilities is a topic that will be covered in some depth in this class and relevant issues related to diversity should be covered in all other presentations.

LICENSING AND LICENSING REQUIREMENTS WORKSHEET

Instructions: Select a state where you might want to practice (except Illinois) and learn about the state’s licensing requirements. Most state licensing boards have a website whose URLs can also be accessed from the ACA website. Answer each of the following questions and come to class prepared to discuss your findings. Create a form on which to record your answers to these questions and turn the completed form into the instructor at the end of the class in which licensing requirements are discussed. Your answers should be word-processed (not hand-written).

1. Name of State
2. What is the name of the license in this state?
3. What types of degrees qualify one for licensing in this state?
4. How many semester hours of graduate course work are required to be license-eligible?
5. In what areas is course work required?
6. How many clock hours of pre-degree supervised practicum and internship are required? Among the total hours, how many hours of direct client contact are required? What types of experiences qualify as direct client contacts? How many hours of supervision are required? Who is qualified to provide supervision?
7. Does this state require post-degree supervised experience? If yes, how many clock hours are required? How many direct client contact hours are required? What types of experiences count as direct client contact hours? How many hours of supervision are required each week? Who is qualified to provide post-degree supervision?
8. Are candidates required to pass examinations to be licensed? If yes, what exams are required?
9. What else should a person know who might want to practice in this state?
