

ENGLISH 501: Directed Readings

[To be completed and approved in the semester prior to that in which the course is taken.]

In English 501 students conduct independent research with a graduate faculty member. The course should be conducted at an advanced level and should not substitute for a classroom course being offered during the student's semesters of course work.

As of Spring 2008, 501 requires a minimum of 12 contact hours (roughly one hour per week in the fall or spring term, two hours per week in summer terms). In addition, a minimum of 25 pages of writing is required. Students may take an incomplete in 501, but grades of incomplete may be carried for only one semester. Students may take no more than two 501s.
