Loyola University Chicago has been educating nurses since 1935, when the first baccalaureate nursing program in Illinois was established. The Marcella Niehoff School of Nursing now offers a full complement of nursing degrees, and several health related degrees, including: the BSN (Freshman entry, Accelerated, and RN to BSN); MSN (Nurse Practitioner, Clinical Nurse Specialist, and Health Systems Management); PhD in Nursing; DNP; BS degrees in Exercise Science and Health Systems Management; and MS degrees in Dietetics.

Associate Dean for Research: Provides leadership in advancing the MNSON’s research mission, activities, and policies, and mentorship for faculty in productive scholarship to advance a mission of excellence in nursing research. Holds a 50% administrative and 50% research/teaching assignment with 9 month faculty teaching responsibilities and 12 month administrative contract. Works with other Associate Deans, Department Chairs, Directors, the Endowed Research Professor, the Research Committee and faculty, and reports directly to the Associate Dean for Academic Affairs. Apply Now

Tenure-Track Faculty: Research intensive positions with strong programs of research in one of the research foci of the school: Biobehavioral and Epigenetic Determinants of Health Across the Lifespan; Prevention and Self-Management of Chronic Disease; Quality and Safety to Optimize Outcomes; and Collaborative Education and Practice. To apply, visit https://www.careers.luc.edu/applicants/Central?quickFind=57711

Health Systems Management (HSM) Program Director: Responsible for ensuring the development, delivery, and oversight of high quality educational experiences for graduate students in the Health Systems Management track of the Master of Science in Nursing (MSN) program. Acts as Academic Advisor, developing each student’s program plan, and monitoring the academic progress and standing of HSM students. Holds a full-time faculty appointment, with teaching assignments during the fall and spring semesters, and administrative responsibilities over the fall, spring and summer semesters. Works collaboratively with Department Chairs, the Associate Dean for Master’s/DNP Programs, and faculty. To apply, visit https://www.careers.luc.edu/applicants/Central?quickFind=57713

Loyola University Chicago has been educating nurses since 1935, when the first baccalaureate nursing program in Illinois was established. The Marcella Niehoff School of Nursing now offers a full complement of nursing degrees, and several health related degrees, including: the BSN (Freshman entry, Accelerated, and RN to BSN); MSN (Nurse Practitioner, Clinical Nurse Specialist, and Health Systems Management); PhD in Nursing; DNP; BS degrees in Exercise Science and Health Systems Management; and MS degrees in Dietetics.

For more information about Loyola University Chicago, visit http://www.luc.edu
For more information about the Marcella Niehoff School of Nursing, visit http://www.luc.edu/nursing

Baccalaureate Programs: 773-508-3249  Master’s and Doctoral Programs: 708-216-9101
Faculty and Leadership Opportunities: Dr. P. Ann Solari-Twadell, Chair, Search Committee, Psolari@luc.edu