Course Description: This course is designed to prepare students to assist individual, families and communities to achieve and maintain optimal mental health. An epidemiologic model is used to help students understand nursing care of families and individuals experiencing mental disorders across the life cycle in a variety of settings.

Course Outcomes: Upon completion of this course the student will be able to:

1. Discuss the epidemiological model and apply concepts to selected mental disorders and/or psychological problems.

2. Understand culturally competent, evidenced based psychiatric mental health nursing care in a variety of settings.

3. Explore quality and safety issues related to the care of individuals with mental disorders and/or psychological problems.

4. Discuss the effects of health policy, genomics, culture, values, ethics, spirituality, economics, legal, and social factors on the health of communities, families, and individuals with mental disorders and/or psychological problems.

5. Understand therapeutic communication techniques with families and individuals who have mental disorders and/or psychological problems.

6. Examine the mental health disparities in health care.

7. Discuss information technology and information management in psychiatric mental health nursing care.

8. Understand the mental health care delivery system and its impact on families and individuals with mental disorders and/or psychological problems.

9. Discuss common psychiatric treatment modalities.
