REQUIRED TEXTBOOKS

COURSE DESCRIPTION
Writing is the most fundamental skill in the public relations profession. A well-crafted public relations message can inform, shape opinions and attitudes, establish credibility, influence decision-makers, motivate behavior change and persuade audiences to take action.

In this advanced, writing intensive course, students will learn, develop and practice the professional-level writing skills required of today’s public relations practitioners. The instructor will emphasize different approaches required for communicating with a variety of audiences. Students will develop competency writing and editing news releases, feature stories, pitches, fact sheets, newsletter articles and other materials that can be used to develop a portfolio of individual writing samples.

COURSE OBJECTIVES
During this course, students will:
1. Learn to write clear, concise and compelling public relations content
2. Practice correct grammar, punctuation and style principles
3. Learn to understand the importance of outlining, editing and proofreading
4. Develop a strong working knowledge of Associated Press Stylebook guidelines
5. Gain critical thinking and research skills

ACADEMIC INTEGRITY
Each student is expected to do his or her own work in the course. Allegations of academic misconduct will be forwarded immediately to the office of the Dean of the School of Communication for possible disciplinary action. Loyola regards academic dishonesty as an extremely serious matter with consequences ranging from failure of the course to probation to expulsion.
Academic misconduct includes:

- Cheating on exams or aiding other students to cheat. Any effort to gain an advantage not given to all students is dishonest, whether or not the effort is successful.
- Stealing the intellectual property of others and passing it off as your own work. This includes material found on the Internet.
- Failing to quote directly if you use someone else’s words, and cite that particular work and author. If you paraphrase the ideas of another, credit the source with your citation.
- For quizzes, academic misconduct includes conferring with other class members, copying or reading someone else’s test and using notes and materials without prior permission of the instructor.
- Turning in the same work for two classes.

WRITING ASSIGNMENTS

Public relations practitioners write for professional audiences. Students should aim to produce client ready, professional-quality work every time. All writing assignments will be graded against the following:

1. Successfully fulfilling the criteria outlined for each assignment
2. Adherence to Associated Press Stylebook guidelines
3. Correct spelling, grammar and punctuation
4. Writing style, including voice, tone and structure
5. Effectively writing for the intended audience(s) for each assignment

During the course of the semester, students will be given 12 assignments of various lengths and complexities. Following are the points for each assignment:

- Assignment 1 – Example of public relations writing 30 points
- Assignment 2 – Key messages 50 points
- Assignment 3 – News release lead 50 points
- Assignment 4 – Talking points 60 points
- Assignment 5 – News release* 70 points
- Assignment 6 – Fact sheet 60 points
- Assignment 7 – Feature story* 70 points
- Assignment 8 – Infographic creative brief 60 points
- Assignment 9 – Video news release script 60 points
- Assignment 10 – Blog post 60 points
- Assignment 11 – Newsletter article* 70 points
- Assignment 12 – Speech script 60 points

*Students will have an opportunity to edit and rewrite these three assignments after receiving feedback from the instructor and other students during in-class editing activities. Only the final drafts of these assignments will be graded.

All writing assignments are due at the beginning of class on the date specified. Late assignments will be graded down one grade per day. For example, an assignment that would have received an “A” would receive a “B” if it is turned in on the following day and a “C” if it is turned in two days late.

Assignments are to be typed, stapled and turned in as hard-copy prints. Assignments should be in Times New Roman 12 pt. or Arial 11 pt., double-spaced, with one-inch margins. The student’s name, date, assignment number and whether it is a first or final draft (if applicable) should be on the top left-hand corner of the first page.

QUIZZES

Students will be given four quizzes during the semester based on Associated Press Stylebook guidelines and reading assignments from the textbook Public Relations Writing and Media Techniques. Following are the topics and points for each quiz:

CLASS PARTICIPATION

Students are expected to be prepared for, attend and participate actively in all class sessions. Class will begin promptly at 7 p.m. Please inform the instructor in advance if you believe you have a legitimate reason for an absence. Information regarding writing assignments and quizzes will come from in-class lectures, exercises and discussions, not just the assigned reading assignments. Should a student miss a class for any reason, it will be that student’s responsibility to contact another student—not the instructor—to obtain notes and find out what was covered.

GRADING

The following grading scale will be used for all writing assignments, quizzes and final grades:

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>Grade</th>

- Quizzes (4)      20 percent of grade
- Class Participation 10 percent of grade

ACCOMMODATIONS

Any student with a learning disability who needs accommodation during class sessions should provide documentation from Services for Students with Disabilities to the instructor during the first week of class. This information will be treated in complete confidence. The instructor will accommodate students’ needs in the best way possible, given the constraints of the course content. It is the responsibility of each student to plan in advance to meet their own needs and assignment due dates. Students are excused for recognized religious holidays; please let the instructor know in advance.
