Biographical History
Toby Zallman is a Chicago-based mixed-media sculptor. She graduated from the Tyler School of Art at Temple University with a B.F.A in Painting and Drawing. Zallman’s work has been featured in galleries in Illinois, Indiana, and Missouri. Additionally, Zallman’s work is featured in a number of corporate and private collections including Marshall Field Inc. Zallman is the recipient of various awards and fellowships including the Ragdale Fellowship, the Yaddo Fellowship, and the Chicago Office of Fine Arts Community Assistance Grant.

Zallman uses materials as metaphors to express psychological content. Their physical manifestations represent such dialectical oppositions as hard/soft, masculine/feminine, open/closed and natural/fabricated. She utilizes a wide array of materials. At times, ideas are generated by materials, but usually ideas dictate the choice of materials and working processes which include construction, wrapping, weaving and coating.
