Shaped by its vibrant setting, a tradition of academic excellence, and a commitment to responsible leadership, Loyola offers you an educational experience that is like no other. With two main campuses in Chicago, we provide access to numerous cultural institutions and hundreds of internships and networking opportunities with Fortune 500 companies. As a Catholic university rooted in Jesuit tradition, our diverse freshman student body hails from 43 states/Puerto Rico and 33 countries, representing people of all faiths and ethnic backgrounds, with a common goal of building a better society.
Our academic programs will challenge you intellectually while allowing you to explore your talents, discover what inspires you, and help you succeed. You can also earn a dual degree, a double major, or a double minor. Or you could complete a five-year joint bachelor’s and master’s degree program.
The best way to get acclimated, meet new friends, and find your niche is to get involved. Whether that’s through a student organization, a Learning Community, or a club sport, the connections you’ll make at Loyola will last a lifetime.

Loyola is part of the Missouri Valley Conference, the nation’s second-oldest NCAA Division I athletics conference. And—this past spring—our Men’s Volleyball Team won the NCAA Division I Title for the second year in a row.

OUR GREEN CAMPUS

The Institute of Environmental Sustainability at Loyola is the latest way we are furthering our commitment to responsible leadership. The Institute provides practical experiences that will translate to your future workplace, such as working on the student-run farm or in the ecosystem research labs, as well as through degree options in environmental studies and environmental science with concentrations in conservation and restoration, food systems and sustainable agriculture, and public health.

TRANSFER STUDENTS

Admission is based on thorough review of your academic record. Submit official transcripts from all previous colleges. You may be asked to submit official ACT/SAT scores and official high school transcripts or GED results. Transfer students can bring a maximum of 64 credits from a two-year college.

All transfer students with 20 college credits or more completed at time of application are automatically considered for Loyola’s Transfer Merit Scholarships. Merit awards are renewable for up to three years for undergrads. Loyola also offers Phi Theta Kappa scholarships for students transferring from two-year community colleges.
