- Centro de Ensino Candaguinho, Brazil
LEARN BROADLY

Our undergraduate academic programs are designed to challenge you intellectually while allowing you to explore your talents, discover what inspires you, and meet your goals. On the graduate level, Loyola is known for its interdisciplinary research and professional development. You’ll create your own scholarly initiatives and chart your own academic course. As a result, our graduates enjoy high placement rates.
ENGAGED LEARNING

Reputation. Ranking. Real-world learning. With two main campuses in Chicago, Loyola provides remarkable access to numerous cultural institutions and hundreds of internships and networking opportunities. The Center for Experiential Learning will ensure you experience the professional world while also engaging you in community service—an integral part of Loyola’s mission. The Loyola Undergraduate Research Opportunities Program (LUROP) will help further your learning and research outside the classroom. Loyola has dedicated funding for action-oriented research, and our Community Service Program links students with agencies working on homelessness, environmental action, and other social justice issues.

“Loyola offers its students connections to the city, the country, and the world, but you also feel like you have a home and community on campus.”

—MERCEDES PEDRERO SETZER
Management major from Chiapas, Mexico
Chicago is literally at your doorstep from Loyola’s two main campuses. Students live and study at both—the traditionally styled Lake Shore Campus and the bustling downtown Water Tower Campus. As a Loyola student, you can easily navigate between campuses on our University shuttle. The city’s U-Pass also provides unlimited use of public buses and trains so you can take advantage of Chicago’s world-class culture and numerous internships while having safe, easy access to domestic and international airports.
GAINING FLUENCY

Loyola offers an exceptional opportunity to study and advance your English in the United States. Our English Language Learning Program (ELLP) offers an intensive curriculum, individualized support from experienced language instructors, small class sizes, and hands-on learning. The program enhances your language skills and prepares you for degree work in English and for professional careers.

THE ENGLISH LANGUAGE LEARNING PROGRAM

Loyola’s English Language Learning Program is certificate-based, full-time, and non-credit. Beginner, Low Intermediate, High Intermediate, and Advanced proficiency levels are offered. All new students take our placement test to determine their level. Each level should ideally take 15 weeks (one semester) to complete. Courses are offered in the Fall (August start) and the Spring (January start). Six- and 12-week Summer Sessions are also available.

Coursework helps you:

- Expand your understanding of English grammar and composition
- Communicate more clearly
- Improve your scores on the TOEFL and other exams
- Learn about and adjust to U.S. culture and communication

Loyola offers an International Conditional Admission Program (ICAP) to undergraduate applicants who have demonstrated sufficient academic ability but who need additional English language preparation. Applicants who qualify will be referred to the program based on the strength of their application.

- High school (secondary school) transcripts
- Submit one of these official test scores: ACT, SAT, TOEFL, IELTS
- Teacher/counselor recommendation
- Declaration and Certification of Finances and Bank Statements

GRADUATE

To be considered a graduate applicant, you must have completed the equivalent of a bachelor’s degree. Below you will find general information about the graduate school application process and requirements.

- Completed application form
- Official transcripts (ECE transcript evaluation is required for all foreign credentials.)
- Letters of recommendation
  (The number of recommendations varies by school.)
- Statement of purpose
- Language test requirement
- Test scores (Please review your program’s requirements online for information about standardized test submission. Most programs require the GRE, GMAT, or LSAT. Some programs require submission of a subject test.)
- Additional information may be required. Please review your program’s requirements online.

For requirements specific to each program, please visit LUC.edu/grad.
EDUCATION IN THE ETERNAL CITY

Take advantage of this extraordinary opportunity to add a unique global dimension to your education. Rome Start participants join more than 200 students from across Europe and the U.S. at Loyola’s John Felice Rome Center campus in Italy. This diverse, tight-knit community tours Rome’s famous monuments, embarks on University-sponsored trips to other top European cities, and participates in discussions with a host of religious dignitaries who regularly visit campus. After the first year, Rome Start students head to Loyola’s Chicago campuses to complete their undergraduate degree.
