

ROME STUDIES

LUC.EDU/CAS

Loyola University Chicago's College of Arts and Sciences (CAS) offers undergraduates a comprehensive liberal arts education that introduces them to various disciplines and viewpoints in the natural sciences, social sciences, and humanities. CAS students develop valuable career and life skills, including critical thinking, strong verbal and writing abilities, comprehensive general knowledge, social awareness, and research competencies. As the largest of Loyola's 10 schools, CAS has extensive resources, providing students with modern labs and electronic classrooms, opportunities to participate actively in research, and a distinguished faculty of teacher-scholars.

Recent growth and renovation at both Loyola's Lake Shore and Water Tower Campuses have enhanced living and learning for students. Some of the additions include the state-of-the-art Quinlan Life Sciences Education and Research Center, two residence halls, the Loyola University Museum of Art, and the Sullivan Center for Student Services, which consolidates more than a dozen campus offices into one convenient location. The Information Commons, a high-tech, environmentally designed library, study space, and instructional center, opened in early 2008.

THE MINOR

To be truly well-educated in today's society, an individual must have a global perspective and ideally have spent a portion of his or her educational career outside of the United States.

Loyola's minor in Rome studies builds upon a recognized strength of the University—the John Felice Rome Center in Rome, Italy—and contributes to the University's mission of preparing students to understand and serve the world community. The minor allows students to capitalize on their study abroad experience by completing a cohesive and unified sequence of courses, using courses taken in Rome and other related courses taken in Chicago, particularly those that make Rome, Italy, or Europe an integral focus.

Requirements

All students must complete Rome Studies (ROST) 300, Italy: Culture and Contexts (three credit hours). Five additional courses (fifteen credit hours) drawn from those listed as applicable to the minor must also be completed. No more than two courses (six credit hours) may be taken in the same department. Cross-listed courses may be assigned to either department (e.g., Classical Studies, CLST 307 is cross-listed with Fine Arts, FNAR 337, and may be credited either to classical studies or to fine arts). No more than two courses (six credit hours) may be selected from courses that count toward Core Curriculum requirements. At least three courses (nine credit hours) must be taken in residence at the John Felice Rome Center. A language competency of at least Italian (ITAL) 103 or Latin (LATN) 132 (or the equivalent) must be attained.

The following courses may count toward the Rome Studies minor. Other appropriate courses which focus on Rome and/or Italy may be allowed to count toward the minor at the discretion of the Director and Dean of Faculty, John Felice Rome Center.

About The Rome Center

The John Felice Rome Center in Italy is an actual campus of Loyola University Chicago, offering an American collegiate experience transplanted to a European milieu in the heart of Western culture and civilization. Situated on Monte Mario, Rome's highest hill, the Rome Center is a mere 25 minutes from the historic center of the Eternal City. It is the most popular study abroad destination for Loyola students.

The campus sprawls across five picturesque acres of land in a comfortable, secured environment. The John Felice Rome Center annually enrolls more than 600 students from more than 35 different universities. The students form a rich community with faculty and each other as they explore the adventure of living in a foreign culture. Summer, semester, and year-long programs are offered.

For more information about the John Felice Rome Center, please e-mail rome@luc.edu or visit LUC.edu/rome.

The Jesuit Experience

Studying in Rome enables students to picnic on the spot where Saint Ignatius had his vision—La Storta—on the Via della Camilluccia, to gaze in awe at the magnificent Church of the Gesu with its gilded and lapis lazuli dome, and to bask in the glory and grandeur of the city which houses the headquarters of the Society of Jesus. Explore the Jesuit tradition and experience the Jesuit mystique in its fullest sense.
