Loyola University Chicago School of Law’s newly established Rule of Law for Development Institute

The Institute welcomes new adjunct faculty member, Joseph P. Saba

During the Spring 2018 semester, the PROLAW fellows undertook their Rule of Law in Conflict Prevention and Peacebuilding course under the guidance of Prof. Joseph P. Saba.

Prof. Saba is currently a Senior Adviser at the World Bank for policy and programs in fragile and conflict affected states, primarily in the Middle East and Africa. He has been engaged in international affairs for over 40 years.

At the World Bank, Prof. Saba served as the Managing Director of Africa and the Middle East. He currently serves as a Peer Reviewer and Core Team member for an upcoming Flagship Study on “Building Peace and Reconstruction in the Middle East.” He is also an adviser for “Iraq Vision 2020,” a joint project of the Government of Iraq and the World Bank.

Since 2010, in addition to his consulting and board duties, Prof. Saba has served as an adjunct professor at Georgetown University’s School of Foreign Service (2010-2016) and has lectured periodically at the NATO Defense College in Rome and Brussels, the University of Utah, Harvard University and in numerous other fora.

Scholarships Available

PROLAW is committed to working with qualified applicants to help guide them toward funding. A number of scholarship opportunities exist for students from all countries.

LEARN MORE about our tuition award scholarships available for all applicants, including the PROLAW Mexico Scholarship, and the new Dean’s PROLAW Scholarships for which the School of Law is offering a 50% tuition award and internship stipend to all alumni and current students of Loyola University Chicago who are admitted to the PROLAW LLM or MJ programs.

Visit our WEBSITE & view our VIDEO

Join us on FACEBOOK