Administrative History

Kappa Gamma Pi is a national Catholic college graduate honors society, originally intended only for women. The name Kappa Gamma Pi comes from the opening letters of the Greek phrase that translates to “Catholic Women Leaders.” To gain admittance to Kappa Gamma Pi, prospective members must show a record of leadership, academic excellence, and active participation in extracurricular activities. According to the organization’s website, the purpose for the society is to “strive for a high standard of personal Christian excellence, service, and scholarship among members; to encourage individual and group initiative and participation in local and national church and secular affairs; and to awaken a spirit of Christian leadership among the undergraduates of Kappa affiliated colleges and universities.”

The organization was founded on June 30, 1926 in Louisville, Kentucky by the Conference of Colleges for Women of the National Catholic Educational Association. The presiding officer of this conference, Reverend Francis V. Corcoran, CM, along with Sister Josephine Rosaire Rea, SC, Dean of the College of Mount St. Vincent, established a committee to formulate standards for membership and affiliation of colleges. Kappa Gamma Pi's first National Congress took place in August of 1929 at Seton Hall College in Pennsylvania and included 73 delegates. At this time the organization had 346 elected members from 29 affiliated colleges. Members decided on the motto "Faith and Service" and organized on both local and national levels.

Since its beginnings in the early twentieth century, Kappa Gamma Pi has continued to grow. While originally designed for laywomen from Catholic colleges, in 1967 the group broadened its scope by admitting members of religious orders and other various faith commitments. In 1981 Kappa Gamma Pi opened its membership to Catholic men. As a result, the organization became the National Catholic College Honor Society for all Catholic graduates who qualify. At the 1989 National Convention, delegates decided that affiliated colleges may retroactively nominate one former honor graduate per year who were ineligible in the past. That same year graduates of masters and doctorate degrees were also made eligible. At the 1993 National Convention, members stipulated that affiliated colleges may nominate one administrator per year to Kappa Gamma Pi.

As of 2023, Kappa Gamma Pi has 59,000 members who live in the United States and across the world. 143 Catholic institutions are affiliated members. Local chapter meetings are held throughout the year, while the National Convention is held every two years. The organization publishes its long running newsletter Kappa Gamma Pi News four times a year.
