Biographical History

Mary Ann Smith, a Mundelein College graduate, has lived in the Edgewater and Uptown communities for thirty years with her husband, Ronald C. Smith, a professor at John Marshall Law School, and her two sons. Long before her appointment as Alderman to the 48th Ward, Smith dedicated her time and efforts to the improvements of the ward. She was first involved with ward politics as part of the Independent Voters of Illinois-Independent Precinct Organization (IVI-IPO), working with Edgewater activists Marion Volini and Kathy Osterman, who both served as 48th Alderwomen. In 1989, Mayor Richard M. Daley appointed Smith to replace Kathy Osterman who took a position with the Daley administration, and she was elected in her own right two years later. Smith enjoyed several successful reelections, the last in 2007 to her fifth full term as alderwoman.

In serving the 48th Ward, Smith was dedicated to matters concerning the economic and residential development, environmental issues, community outreach through education, traffic and transportation improvements, and expanding services to youth and the elderly. The 48th Ward, one of the most diverse in the city, is home to the Edgewater and Uptown communities, with Clark Street as its border to the west, Lake Michigan to the east, and reaching as far north as Sheridan Road and as far south as Leland.

Through her efforts to bring economic and residential development to the 48th ward, Alderman Smith secured nearly $80 million dollars for community improvement projects, and was instrumental in bringing Tax Increment Financing districts to her community in order to enhance and encourage community directed redevelopment. As an advocate for human rights, she worked tirelessly to promote ethnic and racial diversity in the Edgewater and Uptown Business districts and integrate the new immigrant community with the mainstream structure of the neighborhood. Recognizing the historical beauty in the 48th Ward, Alderman Smith led the campaign for two National Register Historic Designations, Bryn Mawr and Uptown Square. She worked diligently to rid the ward of problem buildings which brought harm to the neighborhood.

Known as “Chicago’s Green Alderman” Smith served on various parks and environmental committees including City Council Committee on Chicago parks, City Council Subcommittee on the Chicago Lakefront, Lake Michigan Federation, and PCB Gone. Her leadership on these committees earned her a United Nations Environment Programme Award for Citizen Action to Protect the Global Environment, and she was appointed as the Chicago Representative to the United Nations/USEPA International Council for Local Environmental Initiatives traveling to Berlin to open the 10th Summit in 2000. Smith is known for her concern for the Chicago lakefront and for her multiple accomplishments for the city parks including new programming, providing security for the parks, and increasing the access to the park system to all Chicagoans but especially teenagers and youths.

Alderman Smith worked as an advocate for her community. As an early supporter of Chicago Alternative Policing Strategy (CAPS) she increased programs for public safety and the fight against crime, drugs, and gang activity in the 48th Ward. In addition, Smith spearheaded the campaign to improve traffic and transportation in her ward by promoting walkability, which decreases pollution and increases the safety of the neighborhood for residents. Alderman Smith was honored by the Chicago Civic Federation for her Walkable Edgewater program as well as a Soles and Spokes award from the Chicago Area Transportation Study. In collaboration with the 48th Ward schools, Smith secured $55 million for education and school improvements. She also spoke out for her community when the US Postal Service neglected its services to the ward. As a consequence, she brought the Postmaster General to Chicago to speak with residents. In addition to her human rights work with the immigrant community, Smith is an advocate for seniors in nursing homes as is evident by her role as vice chair of the Illinois Citizens for Better Care. Alderman Smith was a strong supporter of the North Halsted project and was honored by the gay community as a friend and ally.

Animal rights and animal control were also an important part of Alderman Smith’s agenda. She made efforts to rid Chicago of dog fighting and animal cruelty, and has been recognized by People for the Ethical Treatment of Animals (PETA) for her proposed Elephant Protection Ordinance. In addition to the previously mentioned committees, Alderman Smith has served as Commissioner of the Northeastern Illinois Planning Commission and the Chicago Plan Commission, and has served on City Council Committees on Traffic Control and Safety, Buildings, Rules and Ethics, Budget, Finance, Historical Landmark Preservation, License and Consumer Protection and the Mayoral Task forces on Lake Michigan and on Transportation.

Smith retired in February 2011 as alderman.

Scope and Content

Mary Ann Smith’s papers pertain primarily to her tenure as Alderman of the 48th Ward, and are divided into eleven series with multiple subseries. The collection is a reflection primarily of Smith’s public works and not her personal life. Thus the business of the 48th Ward dominates the content. The collection is organized alphabetically within each series and subseries unless otherwise noted.

Series 1: Administrative, 1978-2008, n.d., Boxes 1-23

Contains materials related to the operation and activities of Mary Ann Smith and the 48th Ward office. A common theme within these papers is the communication and cooperation with community organizations and businesses. The series has been separated into five subseries.

Subseries 1A: 48th Ward Office, 1978-2007, Boxes 1-7

This subseries contains papers related to the general operations of the 48th Ward office. This includes reports, advertisements, office staff records, community issues such as requests for ward services, complaints about neighborhood problems, and meeting information. This subseries also pertains to the activities of Smith as Aldermen including her travels, her activities with the Democratic Party, and calendar.

Subseries 1B: Correspondence, 1991-2007, n.d. Boxes 7-18

This subseries includes correspondence to and from Alderman Smith and the 48th Ward office. Correspondence includes personal notes, letters, facsimile, and interoffice memos. Please note correspondence can be found throughout the collection in files pertaining to the subject of the correspondence. Materials arranged chronologically.

Subseries 1C: Newspaper Clippings, 1989-2006, n.d. Boxes 18-19

This subseries includes newspaper and magazine articles pertaining to Alderman Smith and 48th Ward activities. Events include her efforts in preserving the Chicago Lakefront, the struggle with the US Postal Service operations in the ward, city park development, and Edgewater and Uptown business and neighborhood development. Materials arranged chronologically.

Subseries 1D: Office Finances, 1994-2007, Boxes 19-21

This subseries includes materials related to the office budget and payment vouchers for office expenses. Materials arranged chronologically.

Subseries 1E: Phone Messages, 1994-2008, Boxes 22-23

This subseries includes the phone message book from the 48th ward. These books give an idea of day to day operations of the 48th ward. Materials arranged chronologically.

Series 2: 48th Ward Activities, 1976-2009, n.d., Boxes 24-32

This series includes materials related to the activities of the 48th ward including business associations, business development, park district, and events such as festivals and children and youth programming. Scope and Content

This addendum to the Mary Ann Smith Papers contains eight record containers, four oversized boxes and three oversized flat files of material, totaling 14.5 linear feet. The collection spans the dates 1971-2011, with the bulk of the materials dated 1987-2001. All of the material in the collection relates to Smith's career as Alderman of Chicago's 48th Ward and reflects Smith's political activities ranging from general administrative obligations to balancing neighborhood and development interests in the ward. The addendum also contains material related to Smith's "Elephant Ordinance," which aimed to outlaw inhumane treatment of elephants within the city of Chicago. The majority of this collection consists of paper documents, but also contains photographs, newspapers, videocassettes, slides, monographs, artwork and other three dimensional objects. The material has been divided into nine series, one of which is entirely digital. The organizational scheme for this addendum generally mirrors that of the original collection, with some slight differences in series and subseries titles. The materials are arranged alphabetically within each series, and original order was maintained when possible.

Series 1: Administrative, 1989-2011, n.d., Boxes 1-2

Series 1 contains materials relating to the general administrative functions of the 48th Ward Office. This includes bureaucratic forms as well as materials related to Smith's role as a Chicago City Council member, her participation in democratic party activities, elections, Smith's legislative efforts, newsletters, newspaper clippings about Smith and the 48th Ward, subject files related to initiatives undertaken by Smith, and other services and issues that arose within the 48th Ward. This series also contains large amounts of correspondence for the years 1994 and 2008-2011 that consist mostly of interoffice memos and facsimiles related to official business. There are portions of email and personal correspondence, as well as a file dedicated to mayoral correspondence and a file of community letters. Please note other correspondence can be found throughout the collection in files pertaining to the subject of the correspondence. The correspondence is arranged chronologically. All other material in this series is arranged alphabetically.

Series 2: Ward Activities, 1989-2011, n.d., Boxes 2-3

Series 2 contains materials related to various neighborhood associations and block clubs within the 48th Ward, along with materials related to other community issues such as 48th Ward-sponsored events, parks, and bicycling. There is a substantial portion of material pertaining to problematic nursing homes in the 48th Ward.

Subseries 2A: Local Businesses, 1999-2011, n.d., Box 3

This subseries contains materials related to local businesses. Much of this material pertains to businesses trying to obtain liquor licenses, but some is related to general zoning or permitting issues. The files are arranged alphabetically by business name. Please note that business addresses are included on the file labels as well, for building-specific researcher needs.

Series 3: Ward Development, 1978-2010, n.d., Boxes 3-6.

Series 3 contains information relating to the general development and re-gentrification of the 48th Ward, and contains four subseries that pertain to specific areas of the ward and a fifth pertaining to zoning and planning activities. This series contains information on various types of housing in the 48th Ward including 4+1 buildings and high-rise apartment buildings. The series also includes material on the topics of street improvements, parks historical preservation and designs for new development. The series also contains correspondence related to these projects.

Subseries 3A: Broadway, 1982-2011, n.d., Box 5

This subseries contains materials related to development along Broadway Avenue, and most of it is related to the Broadway/Berwyn TIF project which was undertaken in the late 1980s and resulted in Broadway Plaza. Official correspondence, as well as community letters, are included in this subseries, as are legal documents and plans and proposals related to the TIF. There is also material related to the Broadway Armory and a full-length zoning and market study from 2005.

Subseries 3B: Bryn Mawr, 1985-2002, n.d., Box 5

Subseries 3B is specific to the development of the Bryn Mawr commercial historic district. It contains information on historic preservation efforts, new development and rehabilitation proposals, materials related to specific housing structures on Bryn Mawr, the use of TIF funds for preservation, and material reflecting general development in the Bryn Mawr district. Correspondence, meeting minutes, promotional materials, development plans, the historic district nomination and other general materials.

Subseries 3C: Uptown, 1991-2007, n.d., Boxes 5-6

This subseries contains material related to development and revitalization in Uptown. Plans and a Charette for the Broadway-Lawrence TIF are included, as well as information on commercial development, residential development, the theater district and an Urban Land Institute study of the Uptown entertainment district.

Subseries 3D: Zoning and Planning, 1988-2008, n.d., Box 6

This subseries covers general zoning and planning efforts in the 48th Ward, along with appeal cases of businesses being rezoned, materials related to using zoning legislation to solve homelessness issues, maps, and zoning ordinances.

Subseries 3E: Housing, 1978-2011, n.d., Box 6

Subseries 3E covers housing issues in the 48th Ward. This subseries contains information about problem buildings located along the Winthrop-Kenmore Corridor, affordable housing, balanced development and inclusive housing, Single Room Occupancy housing, Location Efficient Mortgages and low income housing statistics for the 48th Ward.

Series 4: Traffic, 1991-2009, n.d., Box 6

Series 4 contains material that addresses traffic issues in the 48th Ward, including topics such as: traffic calming efforts, pavement markings, parking, pedestrian issues, stop lights, signage, driveways, alleys and issues involving the Chicago Departments of Transit and Transportation. There are also materials specific to certain problematic intersections in the 48th Ward. This series contains Aldermanic Menu information about financial activities related to traffic, as well as a State of Illinois Balanced Growth Study that contains case studies of two different streets in Edgewater. All photographs from this series have been removed and placed with the audiovisual materials in Series 9.

Series 5: Animals, 1995-2011, n.d., Box 7

The bulk of Series 5 relates to Smith's efforts to pass legislation through the City Council that would prevent cruelty to elephants. Materials include: newspaper clippings about Smith's efforts as well as national stories related to elephants, correspondence surrounding the ordinance, community letters of support (please note that only a sampling of these letters and drawings is included), material relating to elephant deaths at the Lincoln Park Zoo, drafts of the ordinance itself, subject files and USDA inspections of circuses that owned elephants. There is also a small amount of material related to a "dangerous dogs" legislative effort. All photographs from this series have been removed and placed with the audiovisual materials in Series 9.

Series 6: Environment, 1993-2011, n.d., Box 7

Series 6 reflects Smith's personal interest in preserving the environment and documents her professional efforts to do so. This series contains material from several conferences on environmental issues that Smith attended, including the Dynamics of Change Conference, the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Cities Initiative, International Council for Local Environmental Initiatives (ICLEI), and an ICLEI summit at the White House. It also includes work on water quality and lead poisoning that Smith did, as well as general environmental materials from her files.

Series 7: Police, 1986-2011, n.d., Boxes 7-8

This series pertains to the Chicago Police Department as related to the 48th Ward, which includes the 20th and 24th Police Districts. This series contains meeting agendas, meeting minutes and other documents from the 20th District Steering Committee and the 24th District Advisory councils, issues of the 20th District Communicator newsletter, materials from various community outreach workshops, neighborhood crime watch programs and other initiatives done in partnership with the police department, and a large amount of information related to the proposed shut-down of the Marine Unit. There is community correspondence, as well as complaints filed with the Alderman's office by community members regarding issues in their neighborhoods.

Series 8: Audiovisual/ Oversized/ 3D Objects/ Monographs, 1987-2011, n.d.

The Smith collection contains various unusually sized and shaped objects that reflect Smith's career as Alderman. This series contains photographs, videocassettes, slides, monographs, political pins, awards received by Smith, newspaper articles, maps, development plans, and some art related to the 48th Ward. Some of this material is in boxes and flat files. Please note that oversized material is arranged by size, rather than alphabetically or by date.

Series 9: Digital Content, 1997-2011

This series contains only digital content. This material contains correspondence, drafts of proposals and plans, spreadsheets with statistical and financial information, digital photographs of various projects and locations within the 48th Ward. There is material related to infrastructure, greening and beautification of the ward, parks, zoning, businesses, traffic and health. The majority of the material is in familiar formats such as Word and Excel documents, PDFs and JPGs.

Please see archivist for access to digital material.
