Do people fascinate you? If so, the social sciences may be a good fit. Social scientists examine social systems, human behavior, and culture. Through observation and study, you’ll explore human behavior and search for the motivations behind our actions.

MAJORS
- Anthropology (BA or BS) • Criminal Justice and Criminology (BS) • Economics (BA) • Political Science (BA) • Psychology (BS) • Sociology (BA) • Sociology and Anthropology (BA)

MINORS
- Anthropology • Computer Crime and Forensics • Criminal Justice and Criminology • Economics • Political Science • Psychology • Sociology

FIVE-YEAR PROGRAMS
- Criminal Justice and Criminology (BS/MA) • Political Science (BA/MA) • Psychology/Applied Social Psychology (BS/MA) • Sociology (BA/MA)
Loyola’s social sciences majors include disciplines such as psychology, anthropology, and political science. Through them, you will investigate and examine the fascinating aspects of human behavior and interaction. “The many departments and programs within the College of Arts and Sciences invite all Loyola students not only to lay a well-rounded foundation for life-long learning through the Core Curriculum but also to embrace a way of thinking critically that unleashes their deepest intellectual passions,” says Thomas Regan, S.J., dean.
Expand your horizons

You’ll have extensive resources at your disposal, from modern labs to cutting-edge classrooms to a distinguished faculty of teacher-scholars. Our location in the city of Chicago offers unbeatable access to numerous industries, enabling you to build your skills through internships and make beneficial career connections.

OUTSTANDING FACULTY

Respected and accessible

Faculty are committed to providing high-quality instruction and one-to-one mentoring. Their individual research and professional experience bring discussions to life as you learn both the theoretical and practical aspects of a discipline.

ALUMNI FOCUS

“I wanted to do something that would benefit the greater good. Loyola was the place to learn how.”

LAURA MORALES, PSYCHOLOGY
OUR MISSION

We are Chicago’s Jesuit, Catholic University—a diverse community seeking God in all things and working to expand knowledge in the service of humanity through learning, justice, and faith.

LOYOLA UNIVERSITY CHICAGO admits students without regard to their race, color, sex, age, national or ethnic origin, religion, sexual orientation, ancestry, military discharge or status, marital status, parental status, or any other protected status. Otherwise qualified persons are not subject to discrimination on the basis of disability.

Loyola is an equal opportunity educator and employer.

Information in this brochure is correct as of October 2017.