RX for Empowered Communication

Women in Academic Healthcare Conference

Keynote Speaker
Neha Sangwan, MD - CEO and Founder of Intuitive Intelligence

Neha Sangwan, MD, is an Internal Medicine physician, engineer and communication expert empowering leaders, organizational executives and employees to excel under pressure. Dr. Sangwan is an international speaker and media spokeswoman on the topics of conflict resolution, leadership, team transition, power and hierarchy, employee wellness, and the unique needs of individuals and teams in high-stress environments. She is the author of TalkRx: Five Steps to Honest Conversations that Create Connection, Health and Happiness.

Join Dr. Sangwan for a complimentary, interactive, dynamic and customized afternoon workshop to develop practical tools that address key issues women encounter in clinical, academic and administrative settings. Physician, nursing and social work continuing education credit will be provided. All registered participants will receive Dr. Sangwan’s book, TalkRx: Five Steps to Honest Conversations that Create Connection, Health and Happiness, and her accompanying TalkRx Journal at the reception.

Program Outcome:
Participants will acquire a sound understanding of the impact that poor communication has in their professional and personal lives. They will gain communication skills and strategies to enable them to more effectively enhance dialogues, manage stress, and build resilience necessary to adapt successfully in challenging situations.
